Programme Overview

Brief outline of the programme

The Music Industry is a global and rapidly growing business, manifested in venues and live performance; recorded music; video, game, film and new media. This programme will provide you with an understanding of a diverse industry, the changing legal and economic frameworks within which it operates, marketing and associated technology platforms, and career paths in music. This programme is aimed at students seeking a future career in music management in a wide variety of contexts.

Your contact hours will vary depending on your module/option choices. Full information about contact hours is provided in individual module profiles.

Learning and teaching

A postgraduate degree from Humanities at Southampton offers you the wide and varied learning experience you should expect from a leading research university. We are committed to providing a relevant, modern and above all enjoyable experience which will ensure you graduate with the additional skills and understanding you need to start a career within the music industry or elsewhere. Our course is global in scope: you will learn about real world music management problems drawn from a wide range of genres. You will develop your knowledge and understanding through lectures and tutor-led seminars, the preparation of presentations and student-led seminars, one-to-one tutorials with your supervisor for your management project, study visits, independent study and research.

Assessment

The different modules making up the MA will assess your thinking skills and what you have learnt in different ways, including the submission of portfolios of work, group or individual presentations, coursework essays and assignments, analyses of music management issues or problems, in-class tests or examinations and the final project submission. Our assessment approach is flexible and inclusive, ensuring that you have opportunities to engage with authentic assessment elements such as case studies concert reviews and business plans that will prepare you for the world of work in music management. The final project is a core element in establishing the acquisition of appropriate skills and the application of appropriate research techniques. Your supervisor will be available to provide regular and supportive advice, guidance and feedback on your progress, and help you develop your independent study skills.

Special Features of the programme

The programme will feature opportunities for you to learn through guest lectures and "master classes" offered by industry experts and University of Southampton academics from, for example, the Southampton Law School, the Southampton Business School, the Web Science Institute, the Future Worlds Business Accelerator and the Winchester School of Art. In addition you will be offered the opportunity to gain useful work experience by applying to participate in the internship ("arts ambassador") programmes of Arts at Southampton, who manage the Nuffield Theatre, the Hansard Gallery and the Turner Sims Concert Hall.

Please note: As a research-led University, we undertake a continuous review of our programmes to ensure quality enhancement and to manage our resources. As a result, this programme may be revised during a student's period of registration; however, any revision will be balanced against the requirement that the student should receive the educational service expected. Please read our Disclaimer to see why, when and how changes may be made to a student's programme.

Programmes and major changes to programmes are approved through the University's programme validation process which is described in the University's Quality handbook.

Methods for evaluating the quality of teaching and learning

You will have the opportunity to have your say on the quality of the programme in the following ways:

- Completing student evaluation surveys for each module of the programme
- Acting as a student representative on various committees, e.g. Staff: Student Liaison Committee, Faculty Education Committee or providing comments to your student representative to feedback on your behalf
- Serving as a student representative on Academic Scrutiny Groups for programme validation
- Taking part in programme validation meetings by joining a panel of students to meet with the Academic Scrutiny Group

The ways in which the quality of your programme is checked, both inside and outside the University are:

- Regular module and programme reports which are monitored by the School and Academic Quality and Standards Committee.
- Programme validation, normally every five years.
- External examiners, who produce an annual report.
- A national Research Excellence Framework (our research activity contributes directly to the quality of your learning experience).
- Higher Education Review by the Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education.

Further details on the University's quality assurance processes are given in the Quality Handbook.

Criteria for admission

The University's Admissions Policy applies equally to all programmes of study. The following are the typical entry criteria to be used for selecting candidates for admission. The University's approved equivalencies for the requirements listed below will also be acceptable.

Career Opportunities

We anticipate that graduates from the MA International Music Management programme will typically gain employment in music and management related roles in a wide range of creative industries including live and recorded music production, music brand management, music sales, music marketing, online music platforms, artist management, public sector funding bodies, and charities. In some cases graduates will choose to operate as freelance practitioners or consultants within their chosen career pathway. We anticipate that many graduates will find employment in the global music industry, and that others will work in related cultural and creative fields. Yet others may work as creatives (performers, producers, composers) themselves or set up their own businesses.

External Examiner(s) for the programme

Name: Dr Bryan White - University of Leeds

Students must not contact External Examiner(s) directly, and external examiners have been advised to refer any such communications back to the University. Students should raise any general queries about the assessment and examination process for the programme with their Course Representative, for consideration through Staff: Student Liaison Committee in the first instance, and Student representatives on Staff: Student Liaison Committees will have the opportunity to consider external examiners' reports as part of the University's quality assurance process.

External examiners do not have a direct role in determining results for individual students, and students wishing to discuss their own performance in assessment should contact their Personal Academic Tutor in the first instance.

Please note: This specification provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and the learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if s/he takes full advantage of the learning opportunities that are provided. More detailed information can be found in the programme handbook.

Appendix 1:

Students are responsible for meeting the cost of essential textbooks, and of producing such essays, assignments, laboratory reports and dissertations as are required to fulfil the academic requirements for each programme of study. In addition to this, students registered for this programme also have to pay for:

Additional Costs

Type	Details
Hardware	It is advisable that students provide their own laptop or personal computer, although shared facilities are available across the University campus.
Computer discs or USB drives	Students are expected to provide their own portable data storage device.
Software Licenses	All software is provided on University computers; students using their own computers will need to provide their own licences for music specific software.
Music Equipment and Materials	Students taking music modules should be aware that they may need to cover the cost of accompanists for performance modules. Further additional costs may be incurred, typically these may include: replacement strings, reeds, repair of equipment, music scripts etc.
Stationery	You will be expected to provide your own day-to-day stationery items, e.g. pens, pencils, notebooks, etc.). Any specialist stationery items will be specified under the Additional Costs tab of the relevant module profile.
Textbooks	Where a module specifies core texts these should generally be available on the reserve list in the library. However due to demand, students may prefer to buy their own copies. These can be purchased from any source. Some modules suggest reading texts as optional background reading. The library may hold copies of such texts, or alternatively you may wish to purchase your own copies. Although not essential reading, you may benefit from the additional reading materials for the module.
Printing and Photocopying Costs	In the majority of cases, coursework such as essays; projects; dissertations is likely to be submitted on line. However, there are some items where it is not possible to submit on line and students will be asked to provide a printed copy. A list of the University printing costs can be found here:
Study Trips	The Music Department and Turner Sims will be able to allow a number of students to attend performances by internationally renowned artists for free. However, students will be responsible for the costs associated with attending off-campus events, including the costs associated with travelling to attend the event.

In some cases you'll be able to choose modules (which may have different costs associated with that module) which will change the overall cost of a programme to you. Details of such costs will be listed in the Module Profile. Please also ensure you read the section on additional costs in the University's Fees, Charges and Expenses Regulations in the University Calendar available at www.calendar.soton.ac.uk.
