Programme overview

Brief outline of the programme

The Bachelor of Laws Maritime Law involves a rigorous study of the law, in which you will learn both the content of the law and develop sound skills of legal analysis, but also specialise in maritime law. The programme has been specifically developed to fulfil the needs of students wishing to move into the legal professions, becoming Solicitors or Barristers and who need a qualifying law degree (QLD). However, the LLB also provides an excellent platform for careers in many other areas.

Learning and teaching

The Core modules are delivered in lectures and tutorials. Lectures are intended to provide an overview of the specific subject area whereas tutorials are conducted in smaller groups in order to facilitate discussion and debate about specific topic led by a tutor. You may also be taught by seminar, particularly in optional modules where student numbers are smaller. A seminar provides a structured opportunity to explore in detail texts and materials with a tutor and through class discussion.

Assessment

Each module that you study is assessed at the end of the Module; this is termed summative assessment. For Semester 1 modules you will be assessed in January and Semester 2 Modules will be assessed in May/June. Each Module will also provide you with one formative assessment before you complete your summative assessment. This is intended to provide you with an understanding about your development in that Module. Formative assessment does not count towards your final mark in the Module. Your degree result will be calculated by reference to the Modules that you study in Part 2 (2nd Year) and Part 3 (3rd Year) of your study.

We use a variety of different summative assessment methods; the precise approach depends on the individual Module. For the core subjects most Modules assess by means of an examination or essay. There is some variation in the examination method adopted with some using seen and open-book examinations instead of the traditional unseen examination. You will also be assessed regarding your research and writing skills in the Legal Research and Writing Module in the final year of your study by writing an extended research essay of 10,000 words.

Optional Modules use a variety of different assessment methods, including:

- Small Group Presentations
- Blog Entry
- Portfolio
- Law Reform Project
- Oral Presentation

Educational aims of the programme

The aims of the programme are to:

- Allow you to build upon and develop the essential knowledge and understanding that you form through study of core subjects, in a way that suits your own objectives and attributes, through further study of a range of options, in particular in the field of maritime law, and through study of law's role in social and political issues.
- provide you with a well-rounded education in English Law including its relationship to European Union Law, the European Convention on Human Rights and International Law
- provide substantive and detailed knowledge of core legal subjects, including the skills and qualities required of lawyers whether academic or in practice
- encourage you to appreciate the social, national and global context within which law operates
- guide you to recognise and deal with legal ambiguity and to provide alternate solutions and critical approaches
- equip you with the ability to reflect upon your own progress and foster engagement with your own personal and professional development.

Programme learning outcomes

A. Knowledge and understanding

Having successfully completed this programme you will be able to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of:

- A1. The principles and values of law, questions of justice and of ethics
- A2. The sources, concepts, rules, structure and where relevant procedures of public and private law in social, national and global contexts
- A3. Ambiguity and uncertainty in law
- A4. The interrelationship between different branches of legal study
- A5. A clear understanding of the commercial and legal principles of shipping.
- A6. A good working knowledge of the law of contract, tort and bailment as applicable to the complex interrelations between the parties to international maritime transactions.

Teaching and learning methods

Knowledge and understanding is acquired through attendance in lectures, tutorials and seminars alongside guided independent study. More specialised knowledge, beyond the core subjects, is acquired through research led extended essays or projects supported by a compulsory research dissertation in a chosen field. Technology enhanced learning is used to support the acquisition of knowledge and understanding, particularly via the Blackboard site.

Assessment methods

Knowledge and understanding is assessed through a variety of diverse assessment methods including: examination, essay, research dissertation; projects, written blogs and presentations.

B. Subject specific intellectual and research skills

Having successfully completed this programme you will be able to:

- B1. Ask and answer cogent questions about law and legal systems, identify gaps in legal knowledge and acquire new knowledge by engaging in critical analysis and reflection
- B2. Study in depth, and in context, substantive areas of law
- B3. Conduct self-directed research leading to an essay or dissertation.
- B4. Work with a range of data including textual, numerical and statistical
- B5. Synthesise relevant doctrinal and policy issues in order to present a reasoned choice between alternative solutions and assess the merits of particular legal arguments.
- B6. Understand the commercial complexities behind maritime legal issues and develop legal arguments which take into account this commercial background.

Teaching and learning methods

Intellectual and research skills are acquired through participation and engagement in lectures, tutorials and seminars alongside guided independent study. Preparation and writing of extended essays and the research dissertation provides the acquisition of research and intellectual skills.

Assessment methods

Intellectual and research skills are assessed through a variety of assessment methods including: examination, essay, research dissertation, projects, written blogs and presentations.

C. Transferable and generic skills

Having successfully completed this programme you will be able to:

- C1. Demonstrate skills of self-management: including an ability to reflect on your own work
- C2. Evaluate concepts, principles and policies and make critical judgments/reasoned choice between alternative solutions and/or merits of particular arguments
- C3. Apply knowledge and understanding and offer conclusions addressing complex or actual, or hypothetical problems
- C4. Apply communication skills to solve and address legal problems
- C5. Work effectively individually or collaboratively
- C6. Engage with your own personal and professional development, and academic integrity

Programme structure

Typical course content

Upon successful completion of the Programme you will obtain a Qualifying Law Degree (QLD) accredited by the Law Society and Bar Council. As part of the QLD you must study seven foundational law subjects which are covered in Part 1 (1st Year) and Part 2 (2nd Year) of the Programme. Additionally, you must study Legal System and Reasoning in Semester 1 of Part 1 as a Core module. This module is designed to give you an introduction to the features of the legal system and also how to read and interpret legal materials/sources. An innovative aspect of the Programme is that the foundational subjects are delivered in way that establishes and explores the connections, context and relationship between the foundational subjects so as to give you a better grasp as to why these subjects are core for the legal system.

In Part 1 (1st Year) and Part 2 (2nd Year) of the Programme you will also be provided an opportunity to select two optional Modules, worth 15ECTS/30CATS, which are intended to broaden your knowledge and understanding of law as an academic and practical discipline as well as to re-enforce the legal research you are developing. In Part 1 of the programme the options are available in Semester 2, after you have gained a grounding in legal methods and knowledge. In Part 2 you will be able to select one option in Semester 1 and a further option in Semester 2.

In Part 3 (3rd Year), you will complete a supervised legal dissertation, as part of the compulsory final year Legal Research and Writing module. This must be in the area of an approved maritime subject. You will also take at least four optional modules specifically related to maritime law accounting for 30ECTS/60CATS. For the remaining 15ECTS/30CATS you will be able to choose between all the other available law option modules.

LL.B Programme details

The programme is normally studied over three years, on a full-time basis. Your Degree will be classified on the basis of the modules studied in Part 2 (2nd Year) and Part 3 (3rd Year) of the Programme. The marks obtained in Part 1 (1st Year) are not counted for the purpose of classifying your degree. However, you will need to pass all the Core modules in Part 1 in order to progress. All modules, except for the dissertation module in Part 3, are 7.5ECTS/15CATS and run for one semester. All modules which are designated as Core must be passed in order for you to obtain a Qualifying Law Degree (QLD), which provides you with an exemption from the academic stage if you wish to qualify as a Barrister or Solicitor. These requirements are laid down in the joint announcement issued by the General Council of the Bar and Law Society.

Due to resource factors, not all Option modules will be available in every year. However, you will be advised of the ones available for you before you have to make your choice. Other Option modules may be introduced during the course of your studies, reflecting developing research among Law School academics. Some Option modules in Parts 2 and 3 have pre-requisite modules that you will have had to have taken in order to be permitted to study them. When choosing options check the Module Profiles to see if this applies to the modules you wish to study.

Special features of the programme

The Programme is exceptional for providing the opportunity to study the foundational subjects in way which explores the links and connections between them as well as to provide you with the space to personalise your law degree by selecting options in all three years of the Programme. This choice is carefully structured and designed to build skills and to broaden the understanding of law in a way which will allow you to learn about the latest research conducted in the specific field of law which interests you.

An important aspect of the Programme is the employability skills programme, which commences in Part 2 (2nd Year). It provides a unique opportunity to develop important transferable skills which are relevant to those considering a career within and outside the legal profession by providing you with excellent opportunities to network with leading figures in the legal and business communities. Additionally, the Law School hosts an annual law fair for Part 2 and Part 3 students which provides you with the chance to meet prospective employers. It is attended by over 50 firms and organisations including global and regional law firms, postgraduate training providers, the Government Legal Service, the Bar Council and Inns of Court. This is an important occasion to find out about careers, vacation placements and work experience.

The Law School has a growing number of law clinics which present you with the chance to engage in practical legal problems and advice giving. Additionally, you can participate in various extra curriculum activities including mooting, Street Law and Pro Bono work which are run by the Law School or the student bodies within the Law School.

Summary structure of the programme

See Appendix 3

Assessment mapping

See Appendix 2

Additional costs

Some modules make use of set books that you are expected to buy. Check in the module profiles to see if this is the case for the modules you are studying. In some cases, a book may be used for more than one module. Note, books may be available cheaper in an e-book form and up-to-date printed copies may be already available second hand.

Students are responsible for meeting the cost of essential textbooks, and of producing such essays, assignments, laboratory reports and dissertations as are required to fulfil the academic requirements for each programme of study. Costs that students registered for this programme typically also have to pay for are included in Appendix 4.

Progression requirements

The programme follows the University's regulations for Progression, Determination and Classification of Results : Undergraduate and Integrated Masters Programmes as set out in the University Calendar.

Intermediate exit points

You will be eligible for an interim exit award if you complete part of the programme but not all of it, as follows:

| Qualification | Minimum overall credit in ECTS/ CATS | Minimum ECTS/CATS required at level of award |
|--|--------------------------------------|--|
| Diploma of Higher Education in Legal Studies | at least 120/240 | 45/90 |
| Certificate of Higher Education in Legal Studies | at least 60/120 | 45/90 |

If you leave the programme with a Certificate of Higher Education in Legal Studies you will not have attained Programme Learning Outcome B3 - Conduct self-directed research leading to an essay or dissertation.

Support for student learning

There are facilities and services to support your learning some of which are accessible to students across the University and some of which will be geared more particularly to students in your particular Faculty or discipline area.

The University provides:

- library resources, including e-books, on-line journals and databases, which are comprehensive and up-to-date; together with assistance from Library staff to enable you to make the best use of these resources
- high speed access to online electronic learning resources on the Internet from dedicated PC Workstations onsite and from your own devices; laptops, smartphones and tablet PCs via the Eduroam wireless network. There is a wide range of application software available from the Student Public Workstations.
- computer accounts which will connect you to a number of learning technologies for example, the Blackboard virtual learning environment (which facilitates online learning and access to specific learning resources)
- standard ICT tools such as Email, secure filestore and calendars.
- access to key information through the MySouthampton Student Mobile Portal which delivers timetables, Module information, Locations, Tutor details, Library account, bus timetables etc. while you are on the move.
- IT support through a comprehensive website, telephone and online ticketed support and a dedicated helpdesk in the Hartley Library.
- Enabling Services offering support services and resources via a triage model to access crisis management, mental health support and counselling.
- assessment and support (including specialist IT support) facilities if you have a disability, long term health problem or Specific Learning Difficulty (e.g. dyslexia)
- the Student Services Centre (SSC) to assist you with a range of general enquiries including financial matters, accommodation, exams, graduation, student visas, ID cards
- Careers and Employability services, advising on job search, applications, interviews, paid work, volunteering and internship opportunities and getting the most out of your extra-curricular activities alongside your degree programme when writing your CV
- Other support that includes health services (GPs), chaplaincy (for all faiths) and 'out of hours' support for students in Halls (18.00-08.00)
- a Centre for Language Study, providing assistance in the development of English language and study skills for non-native speakers.

The Students' Union provides

- an academic student representation system, consisting of Course Representatives, Academic Presidents, Faculty Officers and the Vice-President Education; US provides training and support for all these representatives, whose role is to represent students' views to the University.
- opportunities for extracurricular activities and volunteering
- an Advice Centre offering free and confidential advice including support if you need to make an academic appeal
- Support for student peer-to-peer groups, such as Nightline.

Associated with your programme you will be able to access:

- A Personal Academic Tutor and a Senior Tutor to support you through your studies.
- Module support material (increasingly in electronic form).
- E-mail communication between students and staff.
- Staff-student liaison committee

Methods for evaluating the quality of teaching and learning

You will have the opportunity to have your say on the quality of the programme in the following ways:

- Completing student evaluation questionnaires for each module of the programme
- Acting as a student representative on various committees, e.g. Staff: Student Liaison Committees, Faculty Programmes Committee OR providing comments to your student representative to feedback on your behalf.
- Serving as a student representative on Faculty Scrutiny Groups for programme validation
- Taking part in programme validation meetings by joining a panel of students to meet with the Faculty Scrutiny Group

The ways in which the quality of your programme is checked, both inside and outside the University, are:

- Regular module and programme reports which are monitored by the Faculty
- Programme validation, normally every five years.
- External examiners, who produce an annual report
- Professional body accreditation/inspection
- A national Research Assessment Exercise (our research activity contributes directly to the quality of your learning experience)
- Institutional Review by the Quality Assurance Agency

Criteria for admission

The University's Admissions Policy www.southampton.ac.uk/admissions_policy applies equally to all programmes of study. The following are the typical entry criteria to be used for selecting candidates for admission. The University's approved equivalencies for the requirements listed below will also be acceptable. The entry criteria for our programmes are reviewed annually by the Faculty. Those stated below were correct as of August 2016. Career opportunities

About half of our law graduates seek careers in the legal profession, as solicitors or barristers after further study and training. However, a law degree can open many doors outside of the legal profession. The other graduates enter careers in criminology, business, human resources, international relations, journalism or education – following postgraduate study and/or relevant work experience.

Our LLB programmes are formally accredited by the Law Society of England and Wales and the Bar Council as qualifying law degree (QLD) for students wishing to undertake further professional training to become solicitors and barristers. They are also accredited for practice in many other countries worldwide, including India, Australia, Canada and Malaysia.

On this programme you have the opportunity to take a University-organised Year in Employment. The Year in Employment is an opportunity to complete a work placement between Part 2 and Part 3 of study as part of your degree. This placement year is assessed and successful students will graduate with the Year in Employment recognised on their degree transcript. For further details please consult the University of Southampton's website: <http://www.southampton.ac.uk/careers/students/work-experience/year-in-employment.page>

External Examiner(s) for the programme

Name: TBC Institution: TBC

Students must not contact External Examiner(s) directly, and external examiners have been advised to refer any such communications back to the University. Students should raise any general queries about the assessment and examination process for the programme with their Course Representative, for consideration through Staff: Student Liaison Committee in the first instance, and Student representatives on Staff: Student Liaison Committees will have the opportunity to consider external examiners' reports as part of the University's quality assurance process.

External examiners do not have a direct role in determining results for individual students, and students wishing to discuss their own performance in assessment should contact their personal tutor in the first instance.

Please note: This specification provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and the learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if s/he takes full advantage of the learning opportunities that are provided. More detailed information can be found in the programme handbook (or other appropriate guide) or online at <http://www.southampton.ac.uk/law/index.page>

As a research-led University, we undertake a continuous review of our programmes to ensure quality enhancement and to manage our resources. As a result, this programme may be revised during your period of registration; however, any revision will be balanced against the requirement that the you should receive the educational service expected. Please read our Disclaimer to see why, when and how changes may be made to your programme.

Programmes and major changes to programmes are approved through the University's programme validation process which is described in the University's Quality handbook.

7253 LLB Maritime Law Additional Costs

You are responsible for meeting the cost of essential textbooks, and of producing such essays, assignments, and dissertations as are required to fulfil the academic requirements for each programme of study. In addition to this, if registered for this programme typically you will also have to pay for the items listed in the table below

In some cases you will be able to choose modules (which may have different costs associated with that module) which will change the overall cost of a programme to you. Details of such costs will be listed in the Module Profile. Please also ensure you read the section on additional costs in the University's Fees, Charges and Expenses Regulations in the University Calendar available at www.calendar.soton.ac.uk.

| Main Item | Sub-section | PROGRAMME SPECIFIC COSTS |
| Stationery | | You will be expected to provide your own day-to-day stationery items, e.g. pens, pencils, notebooks, etc). Any specialist stationery items will be specified under the Additional Costs tab of the relevant module profile, for example the requirement to have your dissertation soft bound. |
| Textbooks | | Where a module specifies set texts these should generally be available via the Library. However due to demand, students you may prefer to buy your own copies. These can be purchased from any source or format. Some modules suggest reading texts as optional background reading. The Library may hold copies of such texts, or alternatively you may wish to purchase your own copies. Although not essential reading, you may benefit from the additional reading materials for the module. |
| Recording Equipment | | Check module profiles to see if a module requires you to produce audio or audio-video material as part of the assessment. There will be guidance on the methods accepted. If you lack the appropriate equipment the School of Law will arrange for you to access University equipment. If you have learning differences that may mean such course work is a challenge you are advised to seek assistance from Enabling Services. |
| Printing and Photocopying Costs | | In the majority of cases for submission of assessed work to the School of Law, coursework such as essays; projects; dissertations are likely to need to be submitted both in printed form and online. A list of the University printing costs can be found here: http://www.southampton.ac.uk/isolutions/students/printing-for-students.page? |
