

Centre for Law, Policy and Society (CLPS) seminars
Semester 2 (2016-17)

All seminars take place 4:00-5:30pm in room 4/2007, unless otherwise stated.

1 February 2017	Dr Thomas MacManus (Sussex) 'Genocide and the Rohingya: Conflict between legal and sociological perspectives'
15 February 2017	Gaye Orr (Southampton) 'Trial Outcomes In Child Death Cases: Influenced by mothering myths?'
1 March 2017	Professor Keith Ewing (KCL) Title TBC
15 March 2017	Professor Sarah Nield & Dr Emma Laurie (Southampton) 'The Private/Public Divide in Housing Policy'
22 March 2017	Dr Matthew Garrod (Sussex) Title TBC
26 April 2017  18:00pm Nuffield Lecture Theatre A	Annual Hart Lecture Professor Ian Loader (Oxford University)
26 April 2017  12:00-18:00 34/4005 and 34/4013	First Annual CLPS Conference  Details to follow
10 May 2017	Dr Melinee Kazarian (Southampton), 'Healthcare Scandals and Systemic Errors: Comparing French and English criminal responses to failings in state institutions'

The Centre for Law, Policy and Society (CLPS), based in Southampton Law School, exists to support:

Law School academics' explorations of the intersections between law, policy and society. Research activities encompass diverse approaches to content and methodology, reflecting the expertise and focus of staff, PhD students and visiting scholars. The ethos of the centre is to provide a place to explore multi-disciplinary approaches to the study of law; the inter-relationships between law and policy; and the historical or cultural role of law in different social contexts.

Dr Alun Gibbs and Dr Harry Annison
Co-directors