Committee roles

President: The President is EngSoc's figurehead, chairing any meetings and overseeing the organisation and management of the Committee and Society as a whole.

Secretary: The Secretary takes minutes at Society meetings, and keeps track of all membership information and important documents.

Treasurer: The Treasurer is responsible for the Society's budget, and for keeping an account of the money EngSoc spends on socials, hoodies, events, etc.

Events Secretary: The Events Secretary organises larger events than those undertaken by the Social Secretary, such as Balls, sojourns, and theatre trips. They are also responsible, together with the Social Sec, for the promotion and maintenance of the overall Society ethos.

Social Secretary: The Social Secretary organises the Society's local social events, such as nights out and day trips. They are also responsible, together with the Events Sec, for the promotion and maintenance of the overall Society ethos.

Welfare Officer: The Welfare Officer provides for the pastoral needs of the Society's members, and offers academic advice in conjunction with the elected course reps. They also organise educational activities, such as the book sales.

Publicity Officer: The Publicity Officer is responsible for communicating the Society's activities – socials, events, and sporting or welfare activities – with the members through email, social and visual media, the website, and in person.

Sports Secretary: The Sports Secretary provides for the sporting needs of the Society's members by co-ordinating the EngSoc intra-mural Sports teams, such as netball, rounders, and tennis.

Postgraduate Officer: The Postgraduate Officer works to engage postgraduate students in the Society, and represent the interests of the postgraduate community to the Committee.
