

Centre for Law Ethics and Globalisation (LEAG), University of Southampton Law School; English at the University of Southampton; and the Southampton Marine and Maritime Institute.

Piracy and Jurisprudence an interdisciplinary workshop***

21st-22nd June 2013

Room 1097, Avenue Campus (Building 65), University of Southampton

Programme

Friday 21st June

2.00 Introduction to the workshop,

2.30-4 Session One: Piratical Philosophy

Chair: Matthew Nicholson, University of Southampton

Oren Ben-Dor

Bearing the message of the open: freedom, violence and the question of piracy (or Gaddafi on human rights)

Andreas Philippopoulos-Mihalopoulos

The smooth law of pirates

James MacLean

Hostis humani generis* - a quality without a name

Tea break

4.30-5.30 Session Two: Encounters between piracy and legal doctrine

Chair: Mark Telford, University of Southampton

Hilton Staniland

Changing circumstances, evolution and spread of contemporary piracy: some major challenges to the law

Douglas Guilfoyle

Unstable definitions and historical accidents: The international law of piracy

7.00 Workshop Dinner at Ceno (next to Highfield House Hotel)

Saturday 22nd June

9.00-10.30    Session 3: Representing history, representing pirates

Chair:            Paul Scott, University of Southampton

Claire Jowitt

Sea Hawks and Doves: 'Elizabethanism', Threats to the Nation, and Pirate Films

Guillemette Crouzet, University of Cambridge

"Those sanguinary Barbarians": Imperial discourse and literary representations of the Gulf pirates in the 19th and 20th century

Neil Rennie

Ann Bonny and Mary Read: Two Eighteenth-Century Pirates

Tea break

11.00-12.30    Session 4: Pirates, Sovereignty and International Law

Chair:            Stephanie Jones, University of Southampton

Alun Gibbs

Fur Traders, Legality and Sovereign Territorial Claims in the Pacific Northwest 1789-1792

Will Hasty

"Are not pirates and smugglers prosecutable everywhere?": The changing geographies of Admiralty jurisdiction in the early-eighteenth century

Simon Layton

Pirate Partisans and International Law

Lunch

2.00-3.30        Session 5: Spaces of (intellectual) piracy

Chair:            David Gurnham, University of Southampton

Marta Iljadica

Seeing, moving, imagining... graffiti, law and urban space

Eva Weinmayr

We are the ship in authorship and ownership

Danilo Mandic

© at open sea

Tea break

4.00-5.30      Session 6: figuring the pirate across law, music, literature

Chair:            Tom Irvine, University of Southampton

Peter Goodrich

Mos piraticus?

Will Lingard

Hostis humani generis? Comparing piracy in maritime and cultural spheres

Stephanie Jones

Reading Crossbones (2011) and A Hijacking (2013)

*This workshop is organised by Oren Ben-Dor (Law), Stephanie Jones (English) and Alun Gibbs (Law) and is kindly sponsored by Faculty of Business and Law, University of Southampton, Faculty of Humanities, University of Southampton and Southampton's Marine and Maritime Institute (SMMI).