

Privacy Notice – 3D X-ray Histology group event enquiries and registration

Introduction

The University's 3D X-ray Histology group work-stream engages in organising conferences and seminars on 3D X-ray Histology (XRH). We value your privacy and we recognise the need to process the personal information we hold about you (your data) in a fair and lawful manner.

The University is a "Data Controller". This means that we are responsible for deciding how we hold and use your data. This privacy notice is being made available to you because you are participating or expressing your interest to participate in a conference imparted by us. Its purpose is to inform you about how and why your personal data will be used, and how long it will usually be retained, by us. It provides you with certain information that must be provided under the General Data Protection Regulation (EU) 2016/679) (GDPR), the UK Data Protection Act 2018, and any other relevant data protection legislation that may apply (together 'Data Protection Legislation'). Our registration number with the Information Commissioner's Office is Z6801020.

Data refers to the information that we hold about you from which either on its own or in combination with other information you can be identified and may include names, contact details, photographs, identification numbers, online identifiers and expressions of opinion about you or indications as to our intentions about you. Categories of data held by the University are set out below. Processing means doing anything with your data, such as collecting, recording or holding the data as well as disclosing, destroying or using the data in any way.

This notice may be amended from time to time and you can obtain a current version here.

Data Protection Principles

We will comply with data protection law and principles, which means that your data will be:

- Used lawfully, fairly and in a transparent way.
- Collected only for valid purposes that we have clearly explained to you and not used in any way that is incompatible with those purposes.
- Relevant to the purposes we have told you about and limited only to those purposes.
- Accurate and kept up to date.
- Kept only as long as necessary for the purposes we have told you about.
- Kept securely.

What data does the University collect?

In connection with your participation or enquiry pertaining a conference or seminar imparted by the 3D X-ray Histology group we will collect, store, and use the following categories of data about you:

- The data you have provided, including name, email address, name of current institution/affiliation, role or position at said institution/affiliation and your discipline or field of work;
- Any other data you provide to us to support your enquiry or registration;
- Records of all contact we have with you.

What if you do not provide your data?

If you fail to provide data when requested, we will not be able to process your enquiry/registration successfully. For example, if you fail to provide us with relevant details we will not be able to take your enquiry/registration further.

Why does the University process data?

We need to process your data to assist us in responding to your query or registration to one of our events, in fulfilment of the University's public task in providing educational services.

Processing your data allows you to:

- Receive a response to your question or query;
- Register and attend our training events;

It enables us to:

- Mail you directly about your query or event registration.
- Track details of our communications with you and store your communication preferences, and consents (when required);
- Conduct surveys about our Services;
- Deal with complaints, grievances, appeals and disciplinary matters;
- Undertake automated and manual data analytics exercises to help make strategic decisions;
- Produce statistical returns such as for HESA and research and statistical analysis and adhere to statutory or other necessary obligations;
- Administer University codes of practice and policies.

Processing for limited purposes

We will only process your data for the specific purpose or purposes that we tell you about, or if specifically permitted by the UK 2018 and will only process your data to the extent necessary for that specific purpose or purposes.

Accuracy

We always aim to keep your data accurate and up to date. Data that is inaccurate or out of date will be destroyed. Please notify us if your details change or if data we hold about you is inaccurate.

How will your data be collected?

We obtain your data either directly from you or indirectly from third party sources with whom you have had direct contact. We will always look to ensure that the third party has the lawful authority to share this information with us and has collected it from you fairly.

How will your data be secured?

We have put in place procedures to deal with any suspected data security breach and will notify you and any applicable regulator of a suspected breach where we are legally required to do so. In addition, we limit access to your data to those employees of the University who have a business need-to-know. They will only process your data on our instructions and they are subject to a duty of confidentiality.

Holding and retaining your data

We create and hold your data electronically. We will retain your data for up to three years. After this period, we will securely destroy your data in accordance with our data retention schedule.

You can obtain full details of our retention schedule here.

Who has access to your data?

Your data will be shared internally within the University for the purposes of processing your query or registration to our training events.

We will only share your anonymised data for the purpose of event attendance and programme performance reporting.

All third-party data recipients are required to take appropriate security measures to protect your data in line with our policies. We do not allow our third-party data recipients to use your data for their own purposes. We only permit them to process your data for specified purposes and in accordance with our instructions.

Exceptionally, we may disclose your data with a third party if required to do so: to protect or defend the University's rights, interests, or property, or those of third parties; act in urgent circumstances to protect the personal safety of University constituents, or the public; or protect against legal liability.

Automated decision making and profiling

None of the data collected about you will be used as part of any automated decision making or to build a profile of you.

Your rights

You have a number of rights. You can:

- access and obtain a copy of your data on request;
- require us to change incorrect or incomplete data;

- require us to delete or stop processing your data, for example where the data is no longer necessary for the purposes of processing;
- object to the processing of your data where we are relying on our legitimate interests as the legal ground for processing; and
- ask us to stop processing data for a period if data is inaccurate or there is a dispute about whether or not your interests override the organisation's legitimate grounds for processing data.

If you would like to exercise these rights please use our online form or write to:
